XI WORKSHOP ON CONNEXIVE LOGIC

18-19 February, 2027
Cagliari, Italy

SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT

The XI Workshop on Connexive Logic will be held on 18-19 February, 2027 at the University of Cagliari, Italy. Previous editions of the workshop were held in Istanbul, Raesfeld Castle, Kyoto, Bochum, Mexico City, Turin, Lodz, and Sendai. Its main goal is to foster collaboration between researchers in the area of connexive logics, and to promote communication and cooperation with members of neighbouring fields.

We invite contributions on any relevant aspects of connexive logics, in particular:

- Philosophical considerations of the notion of connexivity;
- Arguments for or against connexive logics;
- Systems of connexive logics;
- Non-explosiveness of logical consequence;
- Empirical studies on the scope of connexivity;
- Proof theory of connexive logics;
- Algebraic aspects of connexive logics;
- Connexivity and metainferences;
- Relations with other logics (e.g., modal, quantum, relevant, non-reflexive, non-transitive logics).

Abstracts of contributed talks (1-2 pages, any format) should be sent to [paoli\[at\]unica.it](mailto:paoli[at]unica.it).

Further information can be found on the workshop website:
